

Shasta College Community Teaching Garden presents first workshop: “Getting Started in your Organic Food Garden.” Sunday, March 7, 1:00-4:00 p.m., Shasta College Main Campus, 11555 Old Oregon Trail. Meet in Room 821. (We will move outside if weather permits.)

Participants will receive information on techniques in preparing and enriching soil, where to get seeds and plants, developing an efficient watering system, and gardening support services, such as books, catalogues and consultants.

Participants will leave workshop with maps and plans for their own gardens.

This workshop will be appropriate for both beginning gardeners and for those who want to improve their productivity. Bring your garden problems and questions.

Workshop leaders: Jim Collins and Wayne Kessler.

Fee: $10.00.

Register online: www.shastacollege.edu/EWD

and then click on Pathways Catalog

For more registration info call 225-4835

For more info about workshop, call 530.242.2248 or email

teachingarden@shastacollege.edu

+++++